

ANTHROPOLOGY

Monday, October 23 – 3:30 pm – SSC5220

G
E
H
M
A N

L
E
C
T
U
R
E

Dr. Katja Neves

*Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Concordia University*

Post-Normal Conservation: Reordering Biodiversity Governance

This presentation theorizes pivotal transformations in biodiversity conservation pertaining to the emergence of 'new' governance constituencies in the age of environmental concern. Specifically, it scrutinizes the reinvention of botanic gardens as environmental governance actors that aim to overcome paradoxes stemming from the intersection large-scale ecological dynamics with the narrower governance scope of a world of nation states.

Supported by the Student Donation Fund

Western  Social Science