Call for 2015-2016 Reviewers

Reviewers are needed from each of the four sub-fields of anthropology including socio-cultural anthropology, physical anthropology, archaeology, and linguistic anthropology. Typically reviewers have two weeks to review one or two articles. This is a fantastic opportunity to gain editing experience and to better understand the peer review process. If you are interested in being a reviewer, please complete the attached form and return it to the co-editors by email (uwojournal@gmail.com) by November 20, 2015.

Requirements

Positions are open to ALL UWO anthropology graduate and undergraduate students. New reviewers must agree to attend a session on providing fair, effective and objective feedback to their peers. There are several options for the scheduling of these sessions so that everyone can attend. Please refer to the application form for session dates and select a session that you are able to attend. If you cannot attend any of these session dates please contact the co-editors at the email address below to make alternative arrangements. If you have acted as a peer reviewer for UWOJA previously, or have taken the Teaching Assistant Training Program (TATP) you are not required to attend a session, although it is recommended as information regarding the new online submission and editing system will also be provided.

Please contact uwojournal@gmail.com if you have any questions regarding the application.
