Department of Anthropology
Instructor Permission Application form for
ANTH 3324A:
Archaeological Field School – Site Management and Service
Professor Neal Ferris

Applications submitted by March 10 will receive first consideration.
Applications will continue to be considered after this date if any registration spaces remain open.

Course brief description:
The aim of this course is to explore archaeological field methodologies that are designed to manage and promote a significant archaeological site through non-invasive and minimally intrusive methodologies. This course will take place at the Museum of Ontario Archaeology and on the Lawson site, a nationally and provincially listed significant Indigenous site dating to the 16th century AD. Students will undertake field investigations on the Lawson site that are designed to protect the heritage value of this Indigenous archaeological heritage, as a service opportunity for the public, and consistent with the site's long term management plan.

Your application will be reviewed by the Instructor and the Undergrad Chair of the Department of Anthropology. If you are approved to take the course, the Department will send the list of approved students to the Registrar's Office, and you will be added to the course at that time. If you decide not to take the course, you must drop the course through on-line Web Registration, as well as email the Instructor and the Department of Anthropology that you have dropped the course.

Please complete this application and return it to the Anthropology Main Office SSC 3326, or email it to: Laura Cousins at lcousin3@uwo.ca.
