

ANTHROPOLOGY

Friday March 27, 2020 * 2:30 pm * UC 3110

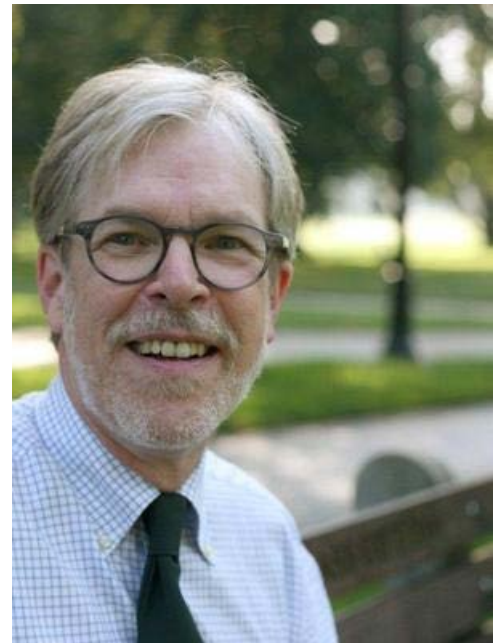

GUEST LECTURE 2019/2020

Dr. Clark Spencer Larsen

Distinguished University Professor University of Ohio

Çatalhöyük: The Bioarchaeology of an Early Farming Society in Transition

Dr. Larsen highlights the famous archaeological site of Çatalhöyük, occupied from approximately 7000 BC to 5900 BC, located in south-central Turkey. This presentation provides an overview of the decades-long study of human remains from the site, focusing on changes over time and space at the site. The long-term research program uses demography, pathology, diet, biomechanics, activity, genetic relatedness, and growth and development to assess and interpret the health and lifeways of a growing population undergoing economic intensification.

Western  Social Science

Supported by the Social Science Student Donation Fund